

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION URBAN MSED

A Master's degree in Elementary Education for professionals

Today's urban environments present unique challenges and rewards. The Master's degree will give you the advanced skills you need to face these issues head on—and thrive in any school setting.

The Master's degree in Elementary Education is a non-licensure program.

The Master's in Elementary Education program

In as little as two years, you can earn a Master of Science in Elementary Education with a focus on Urban Education. You will engage directly and unflinchingly with the toughest issues urban educators face, including:

- Curriculum
- Special education
- Assessment
- Teacher leadership
- Politics and schools as organizations
- Research
- Culture and communities
- Educational philosophy

By the time you graduate, you will be prepared to succeed with and support diverse learners anywhere in the country.

Is the Master's in Elementary Education program right for you?

To be eligible for this program, one or more of the following situations must apply to you:

- You already have a bachelor's degree in education or another field
- You have a teacher license in Indiana or any other state
- You want to teach at the college level You plan to enter a Ph.D. program in education
- You started the master's program, but haven't taken a class in more than two years

If you don't fall into one of these categories, consider our undergraduate or transition programs.

For more information about the program, please schedule an appointment with us. We would be happy to help you explore your options.

All applicants are required to submit their transcripts, with the degree conferral, to be reviewed for admission. Please contact the advisor (see above) for information about the application instructions and submitting the transcripts.
