

Revalidation of Non-licensure Coursework

The seven year currency policy for professional education courses applies to degree requirements and teaching license additions. Professional course work more than seven years old must be revalidated at the discretion of the faculty/department. Non-teaching minors do not need to be revalidated unless individual courses are subsequently used for a teaching credential.”